1. The consultation process and how to respond

Scope of the Consultation

Topic of this consultation:	The proposals for new governance arrangements for the Firefighters' Pension Scheme 2015. These draft regulations ensure that the Firefighters' Pension Schemes in England comply with the requirements in the Public Service Pensions Act 2013 to establish new arrangements for governance, including a mechanism to control future costs of the Scheme. To make the Scheme more accountable to its members and taxpayers, the first section of the draft regulations relates to the setting up of two new bodies which will be made up of employer and scheme member representatives. The first of these two bodies is a national Scheme Advisory Board. The Board's primary role is to provide the Secretary of State for the Department for Communities and Local Government with advice on desirable changes to the Scheme's regulations, when requested. Secondly, the draft regulations set out that local pension boards should be formed by each fire and rescue authority. These local boards may be advised by the national Scheme Advisory Board and are there to assist the scheme manager in the efficient and effective administration of the pension scheme. The Scheme is also required to publish an employer cost cap. If the cost of providing scheme benefits is more than two percentage points lower or higher than the cost cap, then changes must be made to the Scheme's design to bring the costs back to the correct level. For example, this could be by changing the rate at which scheme member's benefits build up. This is to protect scheme employers and therefore taxpayers from unexpected increases in the cost of the Scheme and to ensure it remains sustainable and affordable. The decision about what changes to make rests with the Secretary of State who must consult with the Scheme Advisory Board. If the Board is unable to unanimously agree what changes should be made, then three months after consulting them, the Secretary of State must begin to change the rate at which members build up their benefits.

	This consultation document provides more detail on the changes being proposed.
Scope of this consultation:	As outlined above, this document summarises the draft regulations designed to introduce new governance arrangements to the Firefighters' Pension Schemes in England. It sets out the terms for the establishment of a single national Scheme Advisory Board and a local pension board in each fire and rescue authority area on 1 April 2015. In addition, the draft regulations require the Scheme to publish an employer cost cap. If the cost of providing benefits is more than two percentage points lower or higher than the cost cap, then changes must be made to the Scheme's design to bring the costs back to the correct level. The draft regulations, published alongside this consultation, set out how this process will be implemented. Following the consultation, the Government will publish a response and its final position will be implemented by an amendment to the scheme rules.

Background

Getting to this stage:	The Government commissioned Lord Hutton to chair the Independent Public Service Pensions Commission to review public service pensions and to make recommendations on how they can be made sustainable and affordable in the long term, and fair to both public service workers and the taxpayer. Lord Hutton identified that there is a case for stronger governance of all the public service pension schemes and that there is a legitimate role for representatives of the workforce to be formally involved. He recommended that every public service pension scheme should have a properly constituted, trained and competent Pension Board, with member nominees, responsible for meeting good standards of governance including effective and efficient administration. In the case of the locally administered schemes, these should be local pension boards. Lord Hutton also found that there should also be a pension policy group for each scheme at national level for considering major changes to scheme rules. The recommendations made by Lord Hutton were accepted by the

Previous Engagement:	Government and were carried forward into the Public Service Pensions Act 2013. This Act gained Royal Assent on 25 April 2013 and put in place the legislative framework for the new governance arrangements for public service pension schemes. In relation to the Firefighters' Pension Schemes in England, it set the 'responsible authority' to be the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government. A key objective of the 2013 Act is to ensure a fair balance of risks between scheme members and the taxpayer. To achieve this, the Government has established an employer cost cap mechanism to provide backstop protection to the taxpayer and to ensure that the risks associated with pension provision are shared more fairly between employers and scheme members. The Department has previously consulted on draft regulations in May 2015 to implement the Firefighters' Pension Scheme 2015¹. This included proposals for the implementation of the cost control mechanism which has been refined in these draft regulations. Those draft regulations for the 2015 Scheme also made provision for the definition of 'scheme manager' as the fire and rescue authority. The scheme manager is responsible for the administration of the scheme.

2. Policy Context

Lord Hutton's Independent Report

- 2.1 In 2010, the Chancellor invited Lord Hutton to chair the independent Public Service Pensions Commission to undertake a fundamental structural review of public service pension provision. In his Final Report², Lord Hutton sets out his recommendations to the government on pension arrangements that are sustainable and affordable in the long term, and fair to both the public service workforce and the taxpayer.
- 2.2 Lord Hutton identified that there is a case for stronger governance of all the public service pension schemes and that there is a legitimate role for representatives of the workforce to be formally involved. He recommended that every public service pension scheme should have a properly constituted, trained and competent Pension Board, with member nominees, responsible for meeting good standards of governance including effective and efficient administration. In the case of the locally administered schemes, these should be local pension boards. Lord Hutton also found that there should also be a pension policy group for each scheme at national level for considering major changes to scheme rules.

Public Service Pensions Act 2013

- 2.3 The Public Service Pensions Act 2013 ("the Act") gained Royal Assent on 25 April 2013 and put in place the legislative framework for the new governance arrangements for public service pension schemes. In relation to the Firefighters' Pension Schemes in England, the Act set the Secretary of State as the responsible authority and the function is discharged by the Secretary of State for Communities and Local Government.

Pension Boards

- 2.4 The Act requires scheme regulations to provide for the establishment of a pension board to assist the scheme manager:
- secure compliance with the scheme regulations and other legislation relating to the governance and administration of the scheme, and any connected scheme
 - secure compliance with any requirements imposed by the Pensions Regulator, and
 - in relation to any other matter specified in scheme regulations.
- 2.5 Amongst other matters, the Act also requires regulations to require the scheme manager to be satisfied that the pension board members do not have a conflict of interest, and that the board must have equal numbers of employer and member representatives.

Scheme Advisory Board

- 2.6 The Act further requires scheme regulations to provide for the establishment of a 'Scheme Advisory Board' with responsibility for providing advice to the responsible authority, at the authority's request, on the desirability of changes to the Scheme. The regulations may also provide where there is more than one scheme manager and pension board in a scheme, for the Scheme Advisory Board to provide advice to the scheme managers or pension boards on the effective and efficient administration of the scheme. The responsible authority must be satisfied that the Scheme Advisory Board members do not have a conflict of interest.

Firefighters' Pension Schemes

- 2.7 The Department has previously consulted on regulations to implement the Firefighters' Pension Scheme 2015 and a Government response will be issued shortly. Those draft regulations already make provision for the definition of 'scheme manager', which is the fire and rescue authority. The scheme manager is responsible for the administration of the scheme.

Local Decisions and Accountability

- 2.8 There are some variances in governance within fire and rescue authorities. Anecdotal information suggests that, in practice, the decisions concerning the administration of the scheme are delegated to an officer of the authority and that officer exercises its discretion within that delegated authority. Other authorities have other structures to make decisions.
- 2.9 The Firefighters' Pension Scheme consumes a large proportion of the budgets of fire and rescue authorities. The Government's view is that there should be greater scrutiny of decisions made by fire and rescue authorities, particularly where these are made by individual officers, to provide more assurance to taxpayers and to scheme members, particularly given that any significant increase in costs that breach the cost cap could fall to members.

Current National Arrangements

- 2.10 There is currently a national policy committee, the Firefighters' Pension Committee, which has an advisory role in considering potential scheme changes. The Committee is chaired by the Department and consists of employer representatives and unions.

3. Proposals

Local Pension Boards

- 3.1 The Department's approach to the framework governing the introduction of Local Pension Boards is to provide a broad regulatory framework, within which fire and rescue authorities can set up their board locally while meeting the core objectives of Government policy as set out in the Act. The intention is for this to be supplemented by guidance issued by the Scheme Advisory Board. There will be some regulatory requirements which are set out below and there is a power for the Secretary of State to issue guidance to Scheme Managers on local pension boards, to which the scheme manager must have regard.

Function

- 3.2 Similar to the requirements of the Act, the regulations require the local pension board to assist the scheme manager to comply with the regulations governing the Firefighters' Pension and Compensation Schemes and any requirements imposed by The Pensions Regulator. The regulations also require the local pension board to assist the scheme manager to ensure the effective and efficient governance and administration of the scheme. This is, potentially, a wide ranging role and allows, for instance, the board to look at the systems underpinning the administration of the scheme or how decisions are taken. However, the local pension board is not a decision making body.

Structure

- 3.3 The Department's expectation is that there will be one local pension board per scheme manager. There may be scope, in future, for scheme managers to share a pension board where the function of a scheme manager is wholly or mainly shared with another scheme manager. The regulations give broad discretion to the scheme manager to determine the procedures applying to its board, including the voting rights and the establishment of sub-committees.

Membership and appointments

- 3.4 It will be for the scheme manager to determine its membership, and how the members are appointed and removed from the board. However, the board must have an equal number of member and employer representatives and must consist of at least four members. Member representatives are appointed for the purpose of representing members of the Firefighters' Pension Scheme. These may be, but are not limited to, trade union representatives. However, the member must be in scheme employment and therefore must be a firefighter who is currently employed by a fire and rescue authority. This means that former firefighters (which could include pensioner members if they are no longer employed as a firefighter) cannot be a member representative.
- 3.5 Employer representatives are appointed for the purpose of representing employers. These may be, but are not limited to, councillors or officers of the authority.

However, an officer or member of the authority which is responsible for making decisions on the pension scheme is not permitted to be a member of the board as the board may be scrutinising the decisions of that officer or member.

- 3.6 It is for the scheme manager to determine the terms of appointment to the board but, in doing so, they must be satisfied that the individuals have the capacity and understanding to represent either the employer or scheme members, as appropriate. The scheme manager must also be satisfied that there is no conflict of interest, both before appointment and subsequently from time to time. An individual who is, or is to be, appointed must provide the scheme manager with any information which it reasonably requires to satisfy itself as to whether there is a conflict.

Costs

- 3.7 It is for the scheme manager to determine whether any expenses should be paid in relation to the running of the local pension board. The Department's view is that any costs should be on an exceptions basis and only to recover costs. It is possible that the local pension board will look to obtain specialist professional advice, for instance actuarial, and the scheme manager may wish to provide an annual budget to the board for such instances.

Scheme Advisory Board

- 3.8 Discussions on a new Scheme Advisory Board have taken place between the Local Government Association and the fire service trades unions and draft Terms of Reference have been developed. The draft regulations, published alongside this consultation, are light touch and seek to facilitate the draft Terms that have been developed.

Function

- 3.9 The regulations make the Scheme Advisory Board responsible for providing advice, on request, to the Secretary of State on whether there should be changes made to the terms of the Firefighters' Pension Schemes. This could be in relation to particular technical features of the scheme or broader scheme design issues.
- 3.10 The Board is furthermore responsible for providing advice and guidance to scheme managers and local pension boards in relation to the effective and efficient administration of the schemes. The intention is that the Board will encourage best practice, benchmark performance, and coordinate technical and standards issues. It is also likely to have a liaison role with The Pensions Regulator and other interested parties.
- 3.11 The Scheme Advisory Board also has an important procedural role in relation to the Employer Cost Cap and will monitor progress against the cap. Further details on this role are set out below.

Structure and operating procedures

3.12 It is for the Scheme Advisory Board to determine their own procedures and voting rights and the establishment of any sub-committees or joint committees.

Membership and appointments

3.13 The regulations require the Scheme Advisory Board to have a chairman and to consist of no more than 14, or less than two, additional members. These individuals will be appointed by the Secretary of State and the Secretary of State will be looking, although not bound, to appoint equal numbers of employee and employer representatives. The Secretary of State will also be looking to ensure that there is a wide range of representation on the Board and that all interested parties that represent employees and employers are on the Board. The Chairman may appoint, with the agreement of the Board, no more than three individuals to be non-voting advisory members of the Board and can also appoint individuals who are not Board members, to be members of a sub-committee. All Board and sub-committee members will hold and leave office in accordance with the terms of their appointment.

3.14 The Secretary of State must be satisfied that there is no conflict of interest both before appointment, and then subsequently from time to time. An individual who is, or is to be, appointed must provide the Secretary of State with any information which he reasonably requires to satisfy himself whether there is a conflict.

Costs

3.15 The Scheme Advisory Board will have the power to raise money from scheme managers to fund its activities. To do so, the Scheme Advisory Board must prepare an annual budget for approval by the Secretary of State. The Secretary of State will ensure that the Board is delivering value for money for taxpayers. The Board may determine how to recover the money from scheme managers based on the number of members of the 2015 scheme and connected schemes, and a scheme manager is required to pay that amount.

Employer cost cap

3.16 The recent consultation on the regulations relating to the membership and benefits in the new Firefighters' Pension Scheme 2015³ included a process (at regulation 152) for reaching agreement where the costs of the Scheme fall above or below the cost cap, so that the costs of the Scheme are returned to the level of the employer cost cap. The draft regulations published alongside this consultation set out a revised, simpler process for the Secretary of State to reach agreement with scheme managers, employers and members (or their representatives) to achieve the target cost. That procedure involves consultation with the Scheme Advisory Board for such a period as the Secretary of State considers appropriate, with a view to reaching a unanimous agreement with members of that Board. However, if agreement is not reached within 3 months after the end of that consultation, the Secretary of State must take steps to adjust the accrual rate to achieve the target cost of the scheme.

- 3.17 The employer cost cap will be set by the 2012 valuation of the Firefighters' Pension Schemes in England, which is currently being undertaken by the Government Actuary's Department. Detailed discussions on the assumptions to be adopted for the valuation took place at the Firefighters' Pension Committee. The methodology adopted for the valuation is set out in Treasury Directions⁴, which were also subject to consultation. The cost cap will be announced following the outcome of the valuation, which will be later this year and the figure will be incorporated into the scheme regulations.

Equalities

- 3.18 The Department has considered whether there are any equalities considerations relevant to the policy set out in these regulations and so far considers that there are not any. Equalities issues will be relevant in appointing individuals to the local pension boards and Scheme Advisory Board, and will need to be considered at that point.

4. Next Steps and Questions

4.1 The Department invites consultees' views and any evidence relating to all aspects of this statutory consultation by 21 November. In particular, comments are welcomed on the following key questions:

Question 1

Do the draft regulations deliver the policy objective on the introduction of local pension boards and a Scheme Advisory Board as set out in this consultation document?

Question 2

Do you have any comments on the terms of the local pension boards or Scheme Advisory Board as set out in regulations?

Question 3

Are there other powers or requirements that should be put in place for local pension boards or the Scheme Advisory Board?

Question 4

Should the regulations be more, or less prescriptive about potential members of the local pension boards or the Scheme Advisory Board?

Question 5

Is there an alternative funding mechanism for the Scheme Advisory Board which could be put in place rather than raising funds from scheme managers with the Secretary of State ensuring that the Board is delivering value for money?

Question 6

Do you consider that any groups with protected characteristics under equalities legislation are being disproportionately affected? If so, what do you consider to be the nature and scale of that disproportionate effect?

ESFRS Response to DCLG's Consultation on the Firefighters' Pension Scheme 2015:
Proposals for new governance arrangements

Question 1

Do the draft regulations deliver the policy objective on the introduction of local pension boards and a Scheme Advisory Board as set out in this consultation document?

Response: The draft regulations would seem to support the policy objective with regard to the Scheme Advisory Board, but leave some concerns with regard to the local pension boards. There are currently 46 Fire & Rescue Authorities in England and we believe there will be a considerable challenge & cost associated in establishing 46 local pension boards, with the necessary skills and competencies to undertake the role as outlined in the draft consultation. Each local pension board will have to ensure that the members forming the board have the capacity and understanding to undertake this important role; we remain unconvinced that there will be sufficient numbers of people able to fulfil this function. The turnover of officers or members of CFA's who could reasonably be expected to be members of such a board might be an issue. Equally we do not believe that it is cost effective to have a pension board for every scheme manager. The level of expertise required will require considerable commitment from board members who in addition to travel and attendance at Board meetings will also be required to attend training events. We anticipate that there will be an additional cost to each Authority both in terms of meeting the reasonable expenses of Board members, the cost of allowances and training and servicing the Board (including any specialist advice). While the proposals indicate that boards may be shared in the future it is disappointing that a statutory requirement places an additional financial burden on public bodies. Whilst we appreciate the broader point about delegations of officers, a judgement has to be made about whether Fire Authority members have the time (and indeed expertise) to become more fully involved with administrative pension decisions.

Question 2

Do you have any comments on the terms of the local pension boards or Scheme Advisory Board as set out in regulations?

Response: The proposals for the Scheme Advisory Board do reflect these issues. However the proposals give the task of judging whether the Board represents value for money to the Secretary of State but the costs of the SAB Managers falls to the scheme. The proposals should allow scheme Managers a role in judging value for money.

The issue relating to conflict of interest needs to be clarified. Local pension boards will have a number of employee representatives who will themselves be members of the pension scheme they are required to advise on. As such further clarification and guidance, such as that already provided by the LGPS Shadow SAB, should be provided on what a conflict may constitute needs careful consideration, particularly when issues around the cost cap are being considered.

Question 3

Are there other powers or requirements that should be put in place for local pension boards or the Scheme Advisory Board?

Response: Further consideration should be given to amending the regulations to allow local pension boards to be shared even the function of scheme Managers not shared on cost and operating principles. The local pension boards are advisory and not decision making bodies and their role is confined primarily to ensuring efficient and effective governance of the scheme. They will not be responsible for financial decision making, nor will their role impact on decisions around the cost cap.

Question 4

Should the regulations be more, or less prescriptive about potential members of the local pension boards or the Scheme Advisory Board?

Response: It is expected given the demands placed upon Board members that the scheme managers will opt for a small membership. We also believe there is a genuine concern about sufficient numbers of suitable individuals having the capacity and understanding to represent the scheme members on local pension boards. We believe it is important that every member of both the Scheme Advisory Board and the local pension board is able to fully understand the legislation and the details of the Scheme in order to undertake the role expected of them. It would be helpful if the Department of Communities and Local Government could provide a generic job description and person specification, to ensure consistency in the selection and appointment of members of both Boards.

Question 5

Is there an alternative funding mechanism for the Scheme Advisory Board which could be put in place rather than raising funds from scheme managers with the Secretary of State ensuring that the Board is delivering value for money?

Response: The Government commissioned Lord Hutton to make recommendations on public service pension schemes to ensure they were affordable in the long term. The purpose of a pension scheme is to provide an income for people in retirement that allows them to lead a financially independent life, and not to place an inappropriate financial burden on the State or local taxpayers. We believe that there are considerable benefits to Government, in having efficiently and effectively managed public sector pension schemes which provide good pension benefits for retired public sector employees. We believe that Government should show their commitment and support to the Scheme Advisory Boards and local pension boards, by fully funding the support, administrative and training costs of both Boards, through central Government grant in line with the New Burdens principle. This is a sledgehammer to crack a nut especially for FPS since it is not investment backed and decisions on employer contributions are taken nationally. If the government wants to seek efficiencies in pensions' administration maybe it should get the TPA or a similar body to administer the whole scheme.

Do you consider that any groups with protected characteristics under equalities legislation are being disproportionately affected? If so, what do you consider to be the nature and scale of that disproportionate effect?

Response: From the information that is currently at our disposal, we are unaware of any disproportionate effects as outlined in your question. We do believe this matter should be kept under review. We trust that appropriate representation of those with protected characteristics is carefully considered and monitored.

EXPLANATORY NOTE

(This note is not part of the Regulations)

These Regulations amend the Firefighters' Pension Scheme (England) Regulations 2014 ("the 2014 Regulations") to make provision in respect of governance of the Scheme.

Regulation 2 commences the regulations from 1st April 2015.

Regulation 4 inserts new regulations 4A to 4H into Part 3 of the 2014 Regulations.

New regulations 4A to 4D make provision for each scheme manager to establish a local pension board to assist it to comply with its legal obligations relating to the scheme and connected schemes. Local pension boards must have equal representation of employer representatives and member representatives.

Regulations 4E to 4H establish the Firefighters' Pension Scheme Advisory Board to advise the Secretary of State, administering authorities and local pension boards in relation to this scheme and connected schemes. Provision is made for the appointment of members to the Board and for its funding.

Regulation 5 inserts new regulation 150A into the 2014 Regulations. It sets the employer cost cap and requires the Secretary of State to seek agreement from those affected as to the changes to the design of the scheme necessary to bring costs back to that level if valuation reports indicate that costs have varied by more than a margin specified in regulations made by the Treasury. If agreement can not be reached the Secretary of State must make amendments to the scheme to vary the rate of accrual of benefits to bring the costs of the scheme back to the employer cost cap level.
